

ROGER N. SEXAUER

Executive Vice President, Corporate Business Development
Leonardo North America and Leonardo DRS

Roger N. Sexauer is Executive Vice President of Corporate Business Development. He leads a team of highly skilled business development professionals that partner with the seven DRS lines of businesses to identify, cultivate and pursue new business opportunities in the U.S. market and internationally.

Mr. Sexauer has more than 25 years of experience in the aerospace and defense industry, with a diverse background in general management, business development, program management, and engineering. He joined DRS in 2004 as Vice President for Business Development for the C4I Group. Most recently he was President of the former Maritime & Combat Support Systems operating group.

Prior to assuming his position at DRS, Mr. Sexauer served as Vice President, Program Development and Strategic Planning for General Dynamics, Electric Boat Division and Manager, Advanced Concept Formulation. He was responsible for the development of advanced submarine concepts to improve the capability of U.S. Nuclear Submarines. He has also held senior positions at United Technologies - Hamilton Standard Division.

Mr. Sexauer is a former submarine officer in the U. S. Navy. He served as a qualified nuclear engineer aboard the USS Trepang in various capacities including Weapons Officer and Main Propulsion Assistant. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Naval Architecture from the United States Naval Academy.